Compelling Conversations — Perspectives on the Quantum Science Revolution

A chat between three UCI quantum scientists about the future of their field.

Wednesday, April 07, 2021

UCI Physical Sciences Communications

Join Professors Javier Sanchez-Yamagishi, Bill Evans and Sandy Irani as they traverse the quantum realm in this latest episode of Compelling Conversations.

Picture Credit:
UCI Physical Sciences

Welcome to another episode of Compelling Conversations. Just about two years ago, something new appeared at UC Irvine: The Eddleman Quantum Institute. It's an institute that aims to stimulate quantum science research at the UCI School of Physical Sciences, and in this episode, three researchers from the institute share their thoughts on the future of quantum science alongside host James Bullock, who’s the dean of Physical Sciences.

Podcasts
Videos
Virtual Talks
Physics & Astronomy
The Future of Quantum Science
View PDF