UCI School of Physical Sciences Communications

This year, UCI granted degrees to 9,907 undergraduate students. And in a testament to the university's dedication to access and affordability, 47 percent of those bachelor’s degrees went to first-generation college students. In place of the large commencement event take normally takes place at the Bren Events Center, graduates were honored during virtual ceremonies.

In Physical Sciences, over 600 undergraduate students earned their B.S. degree this year, by far the largest graduating class. Similarly, the school conferred 78 Ph.D. degrees! Watch the virtual commencement ceremonies in the links below.
