Professor James Nowick selected as the recipient of the 2024 Biopolymers Murray Goodman Memorial Prize

The honor recognizes Nowick’s seminal contributions to biochemistry and chemical biology, elucidating fundamental interactions that govern protein structure, stability, folding and mechanisms.

Monday, March 10, 2025

UC Irvine Physical Sciences Communications

Professor James Nowick

Picture Credit:
Laurel Hungerford / UC Irvine

Professor James Nowick has been awarded the 2024 Biopolymers Murray Goodman Memorial Prize. The honor recognizes Nowick’s seminal contributions to biochemistry and chemical biology, elucidating fundamental interactions that govern protein structure, stability, folding and mechanisms. The award will be presented to Professor Nowick at a symposium in his honor at the ACS Fall 2025 National Meeting as part of the Division's program.

Biopolymers Murray Goodman Memorial Prize — Division of Biochemistry and Chemic…
News Briefs
Chemistry
View PDF